Customer Flea Control Tips

Though commonly found on pets fleas attack a wide variety of warm blooded animals including Humans and many other small animals in and around your home or business. The adult flea life cycle can vary anywhere from 14 days to 20 months, depending on how hot and humid it is. They carry a health risk that ranges from skin infections to tapeworm parasites. To effectively control fleas customer involvement is required.

1. Inside vacuum carpets, upholstery, drapes, corners, and crevices. Seal the vacuum cleaner bag immediately and dispose of it after each vacuuming. Vacuum daily for 2 week then you can do it less frequently.
2. Wash clothes that may have accumulated on floor surfaces as well as bed linen in infested beds.
3. Wash dog or cat bedding in hot water once a week.
4. Outside, do not allow your yard to become overgrown.
5. Trim vegetation in shaded areas, fleas develop and thrive in these places.
6. Treat every animal in the household, not just the ones that appear to have fleas.

It is not uncommon for a slight increase in flea activity a few days after treatment. Some of the eggs will hatch and the hatchlings will quickly die off.
